

Cambridgeshire County Council

Draft Strategic Framework 2023-2028

Joint Administration Foreword

Times are tough, for residents and for councils. We are facing the most difficult set of economic circumstances for decades. As residents see their own spending power fall because of inflation, so do councils. Our money buys less, but the need is greater than ever.

It is for these reasons our Joint Administration set as its vision to create a Greener, Fairer and more Caring Cambridgeshire, to create a sense of hope and optimism for the future, which we believe we can change for the better.

We want the work we do across the council to prioritise those people who are most affected by the cost of living crisis, and whose resilience is lowest, whether that is on their health, finances or the impacts of climate change. Supporting the vulnerable and tackling inequality go hand in hand. The need to look at the effect of poverty across the whole course of people's lives has never been more urgent.

The pressures of this year's economic woes will not distract us from the biggest threat to our area of all, which is climate change. As we manage increased need and falling spending power, we must not lose sight of the need to adapt to, or mitigate the effects of, climate change on our planet, our biodiversity, and our infrastructure. The drought this summer and changes to rain fall patterns have indicated that climate change is already having a major impact in Cambridgeshire and bringing new risks every year.

Our roads, houses, and safety infrastructure such as fire services have all seen extraordinary pressures and changes this year. We have ambitious plans to cut emissions and reduce our impact on the environment, because if we don't, the costs will get ever higher.

To achieve everything we need to do, we must acknowledge the need to navigate considerable complexity to achieve our outcomes.

In Cambridgeshire, we have a more complicated set of public service organisations than most areas, with district councils, a county council, 260 town and parish councils, a mayoral combined authority, and a local economic partnership around Greater Cambridge. Our 'rich' local government environment undoubtedly offers us opportunities, but it also affects our ability to have a single port of call for our residents.

We think this makes services and decision making seem further away. That isn't right. We need to make sure people feel closer to decision making and the services they are using, so the support and their outcomes are better. When people can influence services, the support is more personal.

So, we will work to make services more 'decentralised', or in other words more tailored around individual people and the families, households, and communities they live in. We will work to ensure that there are more opportunities for people to take part in the decisions about how those services are planned and run.

Chief Executive Foreword

Cambridgeshire is a county of contrasts, a place of both opportunity and challenge. The role of Cambridgeshire County Council is about addressing both the issues of today and building sustainably for tomorrow. Cambridgeshire faces a triple threat from the climate crisis, economic downturn and the lingering effects of the pandemic.

It is our role, as a key public service institution to ensure that we, along with our partners from the public, private, community and voluntary sectors support people, families, and communities to address all of these issues positively and proactively.

In 2021, the Council invited local government peers from leading authorities around the UK to take a detailed look at the way our services were organised and delivered, including our shared arrangements with other authorities. This peer challenge provided us with a great deal of constructive feedback on how we could improve, and the council has responded positively to all these findings.

Since I joined the Council in February 2022, this has led to a much clearer focus on the needs and priorities of Cambridgeshire and its people.

At the same time, increasing demands and expectations for council services continue to grow. The scale, pace and complexity of Government reforms and policy changes continues to impact on the council and these need to be fully funded to enable their delivery.

Having reshaped and restructured our senior management arrangements, my team and I are focussed on working with our partners across Cambridgeshire to ensure we deliver the best possible outcomes for the people of the county. Ensuring we can deliver better outcomes requires us to address two fundamental organisational issues as a Council:

The medium-term financial sustainability of the Council needs to be secured. Working with our elected members, we will need to take difficult choices and prioritise what we do, because Cambridgeshire continues to receive less funding than we need as growing county.

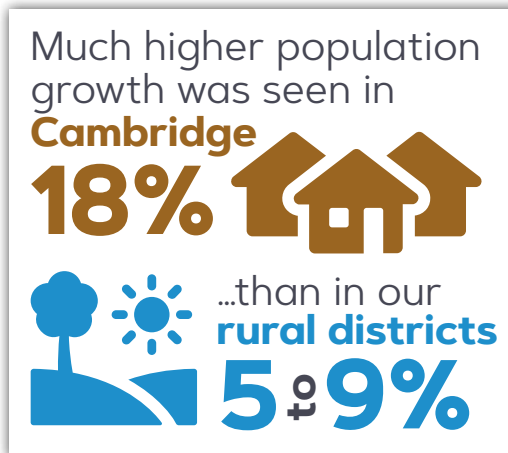

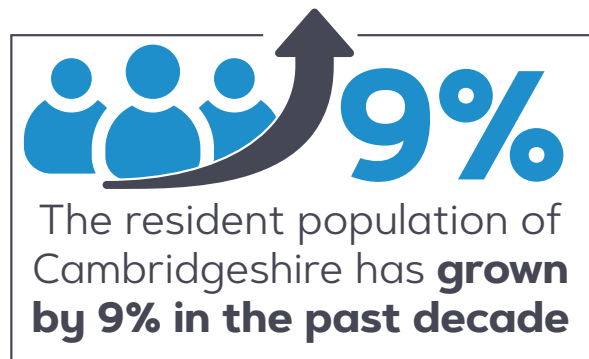

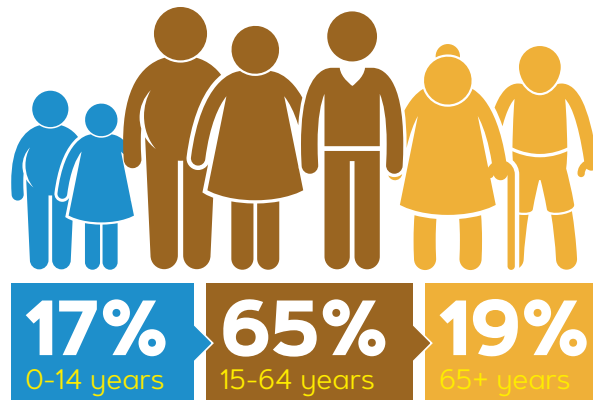

We will focus on delivering services for the most vulnerable and those with the greatest need, but this may still require us to do so in different ways in the future.

Our talented and committed workforce is what makes this Council effective. We are fortunate to employ dedicated officers in a range of professions and specialisms across the whole council. However, we need to continue to need to attract, recruit, and retain capable, talented people to deliver high quality services, improved outcomes for residents and managing the impact of our operations on the environment.

The Cambridgeshire County Council Vision

“ Create a greener, fairer, more caring Cambridgeshire ”

We want to be ‘fairer’, because the pandemic and cost of living crisis that followed have worsened inequalities in health, income, and education, and we need to make sure the prosperity enjoyed in some parts of the County is enjoyed by all

Cambridgeshire has 16 Lower layer Super Output Areas in the 20% most relatively deprived nationally as measured by the Indices of multiple deprivation 2019.

11 of these are in Fenland, 3 in Cambridge City and 2 in Huntingdonshire

The Cambridgeshire County Council Vision

The Cambridgeshire County Council Vision

All three elements of this vision interrelate, so that in pursuing one we pursue the others as well:

Being greener ➡ being fairer and more caring

Reducing our dependence on fossil fuels reduces our carbon emissions and improves air quality, which reduces health inequalities and lessens the risk of fuel poverty for our residents during the cost of living crisis - boosting public transport is integral to this aim.

Adapting to our changing climate includes making our roads more resilient and managing flood risk with our communities

Being fairer ➡ being greener and more caring

Making the local economy work for local people will include the skills and investment needed to transition to a net zero carbon emission County

Supporting people out of poverty will help to increase positive health and care outcomes for individuals and families

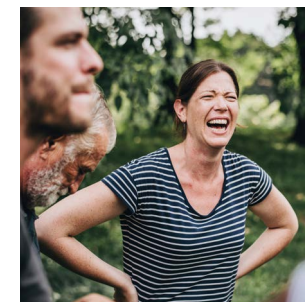

Being more caring ➡ being greener and fairer

Our care services can be delivered in ways which are more local, better for quality and for the environment, and which seek to maximise choice and control by those who use the services

Protecting our most vulnerable residents will help reduce health and socio-economic inequalities

The Cambridgeshire County Council Vision

This vision guides a 'decentralised' approach to our relationships with our partners, communities, and residents, so that Cambridgeshire can become greener, fairer, and more caring in the ways that are most suitable to the variety of people and communities we serve.

To do this we have SEVEN ambitions:
